CSSW’s Statement

The challenges facing development in Yemen grow year after year, with the majority of the population suffering from food insecurity, scarcity in water and primary health services, and weak education and development services. Added to this, countless dangers resulting from the deterioration of economic conditions and security instability that threaten all categories of Yemen’s society, especially in rural areas and/or conflict and war-affected areas. According to the latest statistics, more than 20 million people in Yemen are desperately in need to interventions, assistance and various humanitarian needs. In order to mitigate the negative repercussions of all such challenges, the Charitable Society for Social Welfare (CSSW), during the year 2017, implemented and funded a number of humanitarian projects and services in various developmental and relief sectors.

CSSW endeavored to control infectious and endemic diseases. It also implemented awareness programs, environmental sanitation services and medical support for poor patients and chronically diseased people.

In the field of community development, CSSW, with its partners in UNHCR, implemented training and rehabilitation programs for refugees, and provided loans and educational grants. It also trained and qualified dozens of its staff and volunteers.

The Society contributed to finance and implement a number of construction projects, such as building houses for poor families and constructing training and rehabilitation centers for orphans. This also included several drinking water well projects and other community development schemes in various governorates.

Finally, I would like to thank all our local and international partners for their support to CSSW and its various projects and programs and for their continued contribution to support development in Yemen. I also extend my thanks and appreciation to all the staff and volunteers for their efforts and their continued struggle in the field in order to please the destitute people.

Together with its partners, CSSW established shelter camps for the displaced people and provided them and other poor and conflict-affected families in Yemen with food support, drinking water and implemented general protection programs, activities and services and psychosocial support for the displaced, including activities and services for children in the displacement camps.

The reader of this report will find CSSW’s concern to implement activities, services and programs for the orphans sponsored in all governorates of the Republic. It, in addition, pays attention to execute seasonal projects, which include Ramadan projects, distribution of clothing, Eid gifts, sacrifice meat, distribution of integrated school bag and distribution of winter clothing.

Moreover, CSSW implemented social welfare projects, including sponsoring poor families and the disabled, disbursing in-kind and cash charities, and financially supported those indebted people, in addition to varieties of educational care projects.

In the health sector, CSSW implemented the reproductive health and family planning project, treated malnutrition-related diseases, and

CSSW EVOLUTION & DEVELOPMENT

Establishment

CSSW started in March 1990 by a group of volunteers and social figures as a voluntary NGO implementing programs, projects and services in accordance with the periodic plans and strategy thought out in an innovative style based on scientific methodology of work, making it a focal effective link between donors and beneficiaries.

Objectives

- Contribute to the fight against poverty and reduction of its spread in Yemen.
- Promote and support sustainable and rural development programs and projects.
- Youth, woman and child development and enable them to build their capacities in various skills.
- Contribute to the social welfare.
- Stimulate the spirit of human solidarity and create a new culture of voluntary work within the community.
- Alleviate the damage caused by disasters.
- Expand CSSW scope of work and build bridges of relationship with the region and beyond.

Institutionalism

Since its inception, CSSW made efforts to benefit from the human resources and material potentials and direct all for the advantage of volunteer work and institutional service. CSSW management is based on the organizational structure with clear terms of reference. In addition, it depends on proper planning and accurate assessment of the different projects, programs and services undertaken by its branches, sectors and committees in the various governorates, investing all the expertise in the development of the administrative and financial system whenever the need arises to cope with the rapidly increasing changes and developments.
CSSW Development Vision and 2020 Strategy

CSSW seeks to keep up with tremendous fast events in various areas of life and comprehensive development. The expansion of CSSW-rendered services, in terms of quantity and quality, entails interest in improving the voluntary activities in continuous and intensified institutional construction.

Within its interest in creating a new concept of charity and development in Yemeni society, and mobilizing all possible potentials to benefit the society, CSSW adopted the 2020 strategy as a new and advanced strategy to reflect aspiration for the next stage, with the reference for charity and development at the level of Yemen and the region.

That is based on a new approach to work and a package of important instruments and priorities according to a scientific methodology consistent with the trends and official policies of government agencies, taking into account the relevant laws in force in the country, within the framework of the existing flourishing partnerships with local and international donors.

Our Partners

Partnership with others is an essential and substantial anchor for CSSW policy and tendency with the issue of partnership with local, regional and international institutions, communities and organizations. It is also one of the dominating values of CSSW-undertaken services and an essential and prominent element of its course of action. Throughout the long career in the voluntary and humanitarian work, CSSW proved worthy of the trust that many partners and donors place in it. The major partners of CSSW include:

- International organizations
- Donors and financiers
- The Government
- Beneficiaries
- Implementing partners
- Personnel
- Suppliers
- Volunteers
Work style

By 2020 strategy, CSSW proceeded to set clear parameters for a new way of work based on the practical course to identify needs, design, develop, promote and conduct projects, with interest in investigating the impact and assessment of the implementation process in various stages for continuous development and improvement of performances, service and outputs, according to the following steps:

- Identify the needs through surveys and field studies.
- Design necessary projects based on priorities.
- Project promotion/marketing.
- Conclude agreements with donors.
- Implement projects.
- Document projects in all stages of implementation.
- Submit progress reports of projects to donors.
- Evaluate projects in liaison with the stakeholders.
- Investigate the impact of projects on the community.

Priorities

Through the 2020 strategy, CSSW identified its priorities during the next phase, subject to several months of lengthy discussions that made CSSW realize the need and importance of focusing on sustainable development as a priority over interest in aspects of relief and immediate care, considering that sustainable development is the cornerstone and major factor of comprehensive community progress and advancement. CSSW also considered that focusing on groups of women, children and youth is important as these three categories are among the most important pillars of the desired renaissance and advanced society.

The strategy also focused on rural development to address the deficiencies experienced in the countryside, which is deprived of essential services mainly rendered in the cities when a large proportion of the population lives in the countryside where most of them suffer from extreme poverty in various sectors of development.
General guidelines for 2020 strategy

- Expand in successful projects.
- Focus on programs and projects for young people, women and children.
- Focus on rural development.
- Adopt standards apt to make CSSW a globally recognized organization.
- Make the administrative staff and workers at the main headquarters and branches more effective by:
  - Long-term rehabilitation
  - Training
  - Motivation
- Attract highly efficient cadres
- Implement activities and projects by specialized partners
- Rehabilitate and upgrade the branches
- Train volunteers and employ their talents
- Solicit the help of media professionals and apply advanced media expertise for optimal CSSW mission delivery
- CSSW access to the electronic transaction

Relations and membership

CSSW is characterized by a strong and renewed relationship with development partners at home and abroad. It has joint efforts with the official and public entities. It also characterized by the concrete presence in many charitable and humanitarian events. Over two decade long efforts, CSSW acquired several memberships in various organizations and bodies. It has an advisory membership with the United Nations Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC). In addition, CSSW is a member of the Department of Information for the United Nations Non-Governmental Organizations (DPI-NGO) and member of the Arab Union for Voluntary Work at the Arab League. It also got a membership in many local, regional and international organizations and networks operating in various areas of voluntary and humanitarian work.
Scope of Work

CSSW diversified activities cover all regions of the Republic investing large network of staff and volunteers within its 26 branches and 279 committees in the governorates and districts. CSSW seeks to open offices abroad in a number of neighboring regional countries.

Food Support and Famine Control

Yemen has now become the world’s largest human-made crisis. The current conflict and economic decline have made large parts of the population vulnerable to famine, with 17.8 million people suffering from food insecurity. Of these, about 8.4 million people experience severe food insecurity and are at risk of starvation. To reduce this exacerbating humanitarian crisis, CSSW devoted significant attention to food support and famine control, and was keen that the most affected clusters have access to food humanitarian aid.

In 2017, CSSW was able to reach (261,800) displaced and affected people and supplied them with basic relief items consisting of flour, wheat, sugar, rice, oil, pulses and milk. Such assistance was distributed throughout Yemen.
Emergency Shelter

The project aims at alleviating the suffering of displaced and affected families. Food distribution takes place in partnership with donor organizations in several governorates. The project contributes to providing beneficiary families with non-food items (NFIs) including tents, mattresses, blankets, tarpaulins, mats, clothes, kitchen utensils, water transport and storage.

This project has a significant positive impact on the psychological stability of families displaced and affected by the conflicts in Yemen. It also provides them with the necessary tools to help them settle and live in the transitional displacement environment.

Clean water supply

To alleviate the daily suffering of poor displaced affected families, CSSW, in partnership with some donor organizations, carries out the water supply project, which provides potable water for household use. CSSW distributed more than 2 million liters of clean and healthy water. This benefited more than 20 thousand families in different governorates.

The project contributed to alleviating the suffering of poor families experiencing great difficulty in access to water due to higher prices.

Ramadan Charity Projects

Ramadan is a time of good, charity and compassion among Muslims. It coincides with Yemen’s passing through a great humanitarian crisis which has affected the livelihoods of Yemenis in general and the poor families and the displaced in particular. The suffering has increased by the high prices of foodstuffs and the exploitation of people’s needs. That is why CSSW implements this project in the month of Ramadan and strives to reach the largest possible number of beneficiaries to alleviate their distress and preserve their lives so that they are not subject to exploitation. The project distributes food, dates and meat, Eid clothing and holiday gifts. Hundreds of thousands of poor, needy families and persons in all governorates of the Republic benefit from the project.

1,015,237 persons benefited from the project

- 111,397 persons benefited from the project fasting meals and breakfasts in Ramadan
- 886,270 persons benefited from integrated food baskets in Ramadan
- 17,570 children received integrated holiday cover with Eid gift

Winter clothing

Most of the population of Yemen live in difficult situation and circumstances due to the continued and prolonged conflicts, which caused disasters and economic deterioration. The consequences are that many people lost the source of income due to business interruption, higher prices, disappearance of derivatives and almost disruptive life. This is reflected in the situation of the population, resulting in the death cases by severe cold and inability of the head of the household to provide the means of heating. Hence, came the role of CSSW to intervene by the winter clothing project to alleviate the impact and reach to the affected families in the cold governorates. It distributes mattresses and blankets for poor and needy families of the mountainous/highland governorates that experience extreme cold.
Social Welfare Projects

It is a package of care projects provided to poor and needy families. Such programs are the monthly and periodic sponsorship - every three months. It contributes to the provision of essential foodstuffs consisting of flour, rice, sugar and oil for CSSW-sponsored poor families. A number of donor organizations and philanthropists take part in the project implementation. The project of care for the disabled contributes to the provision of cash assistance as they are in lack of supporters. It pays the monthly amount of sponsorship, and is implemented in partnership with of philanthropists at home and abroad.

- 9,373 beneficiaries from poor families benefited from monthly and periodic sponsorship
- 6,570 poor and needy people received cash assistance
- 47 persons with special needs received a monthly sponsorship
- 47 persons debtors received support and assistance.
